Teen Dating Violence Prevention Online Training

This online training meets new requirements of state law (Ohio House Bill 19) stipulating that all teachers and staff members must start training on teen dating violence prevention by September 30, 2010.

Schools are mandated to provide instruction in health education "in grades seven through twelve, age-appropriate instruction in dating violence prevention education, which shall include instruction in recognizing dating violence warning signs and characteristics of healthy relationships." Boards of Education are required to update harassment, intimidation, and bullying policies to include "violence within a dating relationship" by September 29, 2010."

School Boards are also directed to incorporate training in the prevention of dating violence into the in-service training required by current law for "nurses, teachers, counselors, school psychologists, or administrators".

The training takes about an hour and has four topics:

Topic 1: Prevention

Topic 2: Preparedness

Topic 3: Intervention

Topic 4: Recovery
